Berlinale-Kindergarten 2008 now also open for the public

For two years now the Berlinale has been offering child-care services for accredited festival guests in the Berlinale Kindergarten, at the Gemäldegalerie (Old Master Paintings) at Potsdamer Platz. This service has been enthusiastically received and will for the first time be available for the Berlinale public in 2008. By presenting a Berlinale cinema ticket, regular festival guests can leave their children in the care of child minders for the duration of their cinema visit.

The Berlinale Kindergarten will be open from February 8th to 16th. Child minders - professionally trained in social and art education - will care for the children. Our child minders also speak several languages. Besides plenty of playtime and craft activities in a colourful atmosphere, the programme will include children's tours of the Gemäldegalerie as well as colour and drawing experiments in the Studio Museumspädagogik (Museum Educational Studio). This service is made possible through our cooperation partners the Staatliche Museen zu Berlin (State Museums in Berlin) and Lillabo Hus e.V. who is responsible for the childcare.
